This song for services of communion or for singing before a meal may be used in a variety of ways:

- The refrain is easily memorized for singing while approaching the communion table or when gathering for a meal.
- The stanzas may be effectively sung by a choir or soloist with congregation joining on the refrain.
- All can sing stanzas and refrain together with a choir adding the descant.

What is required to come to this table?

Who is allowed to share in its feast?

There is no limit, no hindrance, no boundary.

No one is labeled "most honored" or "least."

*As we come to the table of Love,
as we come to the table of Love,
we come with a heart open to all,
as we come to the table of Love.*

Living as one, we join 'round this table.

Giving to all, we offer its feast.

Ever embracing, and never rejecting,

we keep this table a table of peace.
